ABOUT THE ARTIST

Sandra Ramos is a visual artist based in Miami. She was educated at the Elemental School of Visual Arts 20 de Octubre, at the San Alejandro Academy and at the Instituto Superior de Arte (ISA); all in Havana, Cuba. Her work illustrates her views of the political and social contemporary context in her country and worldwide. Ramos takes elements and recognizable characters from political cartoons to humorously comment on a very hard reality. Although it is an autobiographical work in many ways, it relates to a generational position, provoking dialogue among the private and public, of personal and collective memories. She works in a range of media, including painting, printmaking, collage, video, and installation-based work. As both an artist and an independent curator, she is interested in wide-ranging concepts, from cultural identity and migration to social media.

LOCATION

The Urban Living Room / Mandel Public Library.

EXHIBIT TIMEFRAME

July through September 2024.

ARTWORK

For the installation at the Urban Living Room, five (5) distinct light boxes make up "Entropydosopes" by South Based Cuban artist, Sandra Ramos. Utilizing her wide range of mediums including drawings and engravings, she creates kaleidoscopic collages that include maps, passport pages, and notes, which reflect her childhood memories of Cuba. These light boxes feature videos composed of these gathered recollections. Some components are recognizable, while others are left intentionally obscured and nuanced. The visual narrative is non-linear. Instead, the artist focuses on experiencing her memories as witty, colorful, whilst critical of societal ideals. Ramos states: "My work is a reflection about history and about the present, functioning as a daily gathering of individual and social memories.”

Background Information:

THE INFORMATION BELOW IS A GENERAL SUMMARY. SEE ATTACHMENT II SUMMARY DOCUMENT OF THE PLANNING BOARD REPORT FOR MORE DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE PROPOSED CODE PROVISIONS.

The proposed amendments to the City of West Palm Beach Land Development Regulations provides for expanded production of affordable and workforce housing in the City consistent with both the newly adopted provisions of section 166.0451 (7) (a), Florida Statutes, referred to herein as the the Live Local Act and the State of Florida Live Local Act, and the City's Ordinance No. 5071-23, Evaluation and Appraisal (EAR) based amendments to the Comprehensive Plan more specifically amendments to the Future Land Use Element Policy 1.1.1, Policy 1.1.3, and Goal 6.

In December 2022, the City enacted Resolution No. 306-22, which approved interim standards for Commission review of residential projects, which increased the supply of affordable and workforce housing by granting increases in density and expediting the review process as permitted under Section 166.0451, Florida Statutes.

In July 2023, the interim program established under Resolution No. 306-22 was pre-empted, in part, by further amendments to 166.04151, Florida Statutes, which was one of the statutes amended through adoption of the Live Local Act. The most utilized provisions for increasing the affordable and workforce housing production of Resolution No. 306-22 were no longer applicable due to the amendment. The City adopted its Comprehensive Plan EAR amendments and included provisions related to affordable and workforce housing production allowing the City to adopt land development regulations to implement the proposed affordable and workforce housing program similar to that established by Resolution No. 306-22. Additionally, the Ordinance codifies an administrative process to address the policy requirements of section 166.04151(7), Florida Statutes, as amended on May 16, 2024.

Attachment II of the Planning Board report provides a summary of both the Live Local Act and the proposed and Affordable and Workforce Housing Overlay development overlay.
